

Alexandra Schlappa

Music pedagogue and recorder player Alexandra Schlappa heads the Bremer Baroque Orchestra's education department. After studying at the Hochschule für Künste pre-college program in Bremen, she received her bachelor's degree in recorder, under the instruction of Prof. Han Tol, with a focus on instrumental pedagogy; followed by her master's degree in recorder with Dörte Nienstedt and elementary music education with Prof. Dr. Barbara Stiller.

Since her youth, she has participated in numerous masterclasses, including courses with William Dongois and Pedro Sousa Silva, and has achieved success in multiple competitions. In addition to her work with the Bremen Baroque Orchestra, she performs as a soloist and in various ensembles. She also teaches recorder and elementary music education. During her many years of teaching, she has had the privilege of teaching at various institutions, such as daycare centers, schools, and music schools. She gained professional experience through multiple teaching programs with her students ranging from toddlers, adolescents, and adults. She is also active in the field of advanced training for educators and teachers.
